Title:
48 Days, 48 Waves

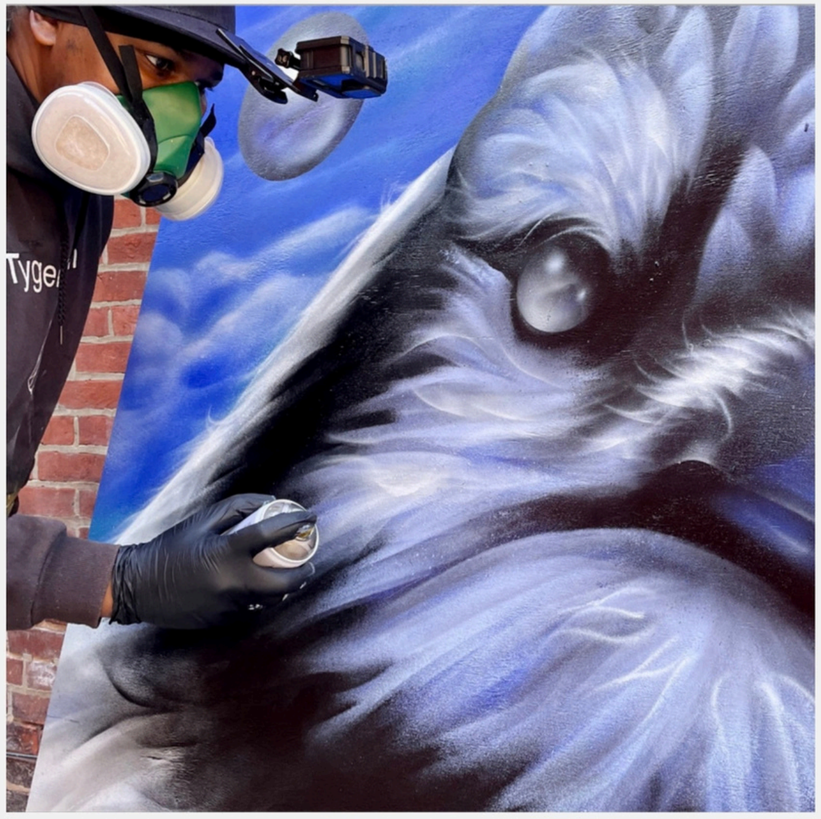

Location:
Atlantic City, New Jersey

Created at the 48 Blocks Arts Festival in Atlantic City, New Jersey, this large scale creation celebrates the excitement, mystery, and wonder of the sea. I wanted to capture the feeling of travel and discovery through a bold spray-painted hammerhead shark, surrounded by a hazy blue and white atmosphere, and translucent oversized seashells. The combination of scale, color, and imagery transforms familiar elements of the ocean into a vibrant, dreamlike experience. Inviting the viewers to feel the energy and adventure of the sea was a pleasure, and conversation starter about art in their city.

Title:
Blue Skies

Location:
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

This blue jay painting explores the excitement of looking beyond the first layer and discovering details that reveal themselves up close. Set against a vibrant blue-sky background, the piece combines bold color with intricate, high-level detail throughout the bird's feathers and form. From a distance, the blue jay makes an immediate impact; up close, new textures, patterns, and subtle details emerge. The work celebrates curiosity and rewards those who take the time to look closer.

Title:
Orange Nesting

Location:
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

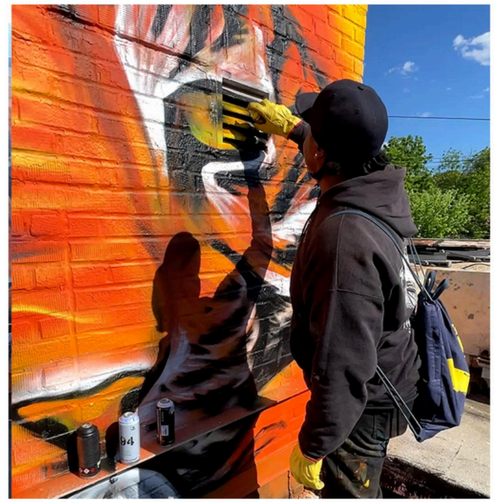

The mural goal was to capture a bird pausing at the edge of an unfamiliar world, alert and searching for the perfect place to build its next home. Vibrant yellow and orange collide with deep black, while splatters create a charged atmosphere around the figure. My floating black orbs become visual markers of the unknown; representing the risks, responsibilities, and discoveries that come with becoming a possible parent. The work celebrates that exhilarating moment when instinct takes over and the search for safety becomes a bold leap into the future.

Title: Weathering The Storm/ Returning Stronger

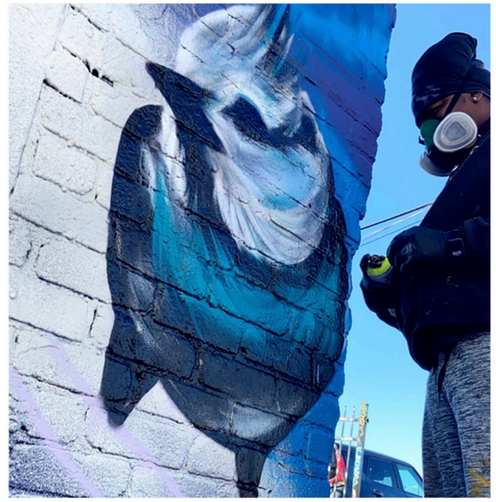

Location: Washington, D.C.

Returning to my hometown of Washington, D.C., this mural celebrates growth, remembrance, and the unbreakable bond between an artist and the community that helped guide him. Rooted in the story of “Weathering the Storm and Growing,” this powerful tiger emerges through vibrant colors, expressive clouds, and has been able to guide his life through it all. Enbedded on the left side of the mural is a map of the neighborhood which honors the places that shaped me; including Burrville Elementary, H.D. Woodson Senior High School, and the community I once called home. This piece is a love letter to D.C., a celebration of where I come from, the storms I’ve weathered, and the roots that continue to guide me as I create original murals around the world.

Title: Born, Raised, Baltimore

Location: Baltimore, Maryland

This mural celebrates the powerful bond between parent and child with the presence of a bright and cloudy day. With its watchful gaze and protective spirit, the adult bird encourages its young to dream boldly, embrace its potential, and rise toward greatness. The dynamic scale and expressive details evoke childhood memories, parental guidance, and those proud moments when love gives us the courage to soar. Rooted in family, resilience, and community, this piece transforms a Baltimore public space into a visual reminder that we grow stronger when we are supported, encouraged, and believed in. It honors the generations that nurture us and the shared love that helps every young spirit find its wings.

Title:
The MTL Dream Protector

Location:
Montréal, Canada

Returning to Montréal to create my first mural in the city is an exciting addition to my bond with the city as a multi diciplined artist. Through my ongoing inspiration of the theme Dream Catcher, I brought a bold energetic, colorful, and a protective emotion to a large scale mural. Featuring a male figure crowned with a vibrant and multicolored fox headdress, I use explosive oranges, hot pinks, and yellows to radiate life, love, and inclusivity; while my signature black marbles bring my personal identity into the work. For me, this mural is about more than making a statement on a wall; it's about creating a powerful visual connection that celebrates the native community, inspires people, and brings us together through art.

Title:
Memphis Bloom

Location:
Memphis, Tennessee

Rooted in blooming wonder and childhood nostalgia, I created this vibrant large scale mural to invites viewers into a world where imagination flourishes and differences comes together. A detailed cockatoo proudly displays his extraordinary marble collection, each sphere holding its own story as a cherished treasures, flowers blooming within some, and glimpses into mysterious otherworldly realms in others. Dozens of multicolored marbles were created as a reminding us of the beauty found in our differences and shared experiences. I also included my signature page flips, rendered like delicate cloth, to create the thought that there's more to the story.

Title:
New Depths of Freedom

Location:
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

This large-scale mural captures the exhilarating moment a seahorse discovers the true range of its freedom for the first time. Layered in a wide spectrum of ocean blues and energized by vibrant yellow, the figure strikes a powerful upward pose, radiating confidence, strength, and newfound possibility. Black and white orbs drift throughout the surrounding space, symbolizing an unknown world filled with mystery, discovery, and untapped potential. The piece celebrates stepping beyond the familiar, embracing the unknown, and discovering just how far freedom can carry us.
